

TROY HIGH SCHOOL WARRIOR WEEKLY

Students, I ran this opinion from me last week. I think the message is still good this week, and as you study for Final Exams, make sure you find balance this weekend. Hanukkah begins on Sunday and Christmas is a little more than a week away. There will be plenty of holiday activities this weekend and you should participate in some of them. That being said, balance studying with holiday events as you prepare for Finals. As I wrote last week, I hope you take a little more time to get enough studying, rest, regular meals, and sleep. You will be at your best if you follow a balanced formula in preparation for your finals. To be fair, this formula works all year but many of us have difficulty following what we know works, and I am no exception. That being said, try and see if it makes a difference. I know with 100% certainty that pulling “all-nighters” then taking an exam rarely if ever works, and the resulting physical detriment is not worth it even if it did. Study, rest, eat, sleep, and you will be ready for your finals. Should you become really overwhelmed and having difficulty coping, do not forget about the various resources available for you both in terms of studying, tutors, and mental health. We have a lot of options at your disposal, so take advantage of them as needed. ☺ Go, Warriors!

There are numerous Mental Health resources available to our Troy Family, including additional resources for our entire FJUHS community. At Troy, staff members are available

On Wednesday night our Theater and Special Education held their annual Special Education Holiday Show in the Performing Arts! It was a sold-out house for the one-night only show, which was the holiday classic it has been for many years!

Mr. Allen Stubblefield is very proud of our student Cyber Warriors for their performance in the Cyber Patriot competition last Saturday. Here are the still unofficial results.

Parents and Competitors,

After an extremely tough round yesterday, LOTS of our Troy Cyber teams look to be advancing to the Semi-Finals in January!

- 8 of 8 Platinum NJROTC teams
- 19 of 34 Platinum Open teams
- 4 of 5 Gold Open teams

- 20 of our 32 middle school teams

Teams must place in the top 25% of their tier from this weekend's competition. We are waiting on Cisco scores and the final official results, which may take 10 days to be posted.

Practices for this week are optional for ALL and encouraged for those on the below list. Normal practice times this week.

Congrats to the following teams in the top 20 nationally. Amazing work!

The Elf Dance Rally lived up to expectations! We began with an amazing rendition of our National Anthem. Performances by Cheer, Colorguard, Jazz Band, ASB, the Grinch, school spirit videos, and of course the numerous 12th grade elves in force dancing to holiday music, specifically All I Want for Christmas, and Run, Run, Rudolph. As predicted, there was school and holiday spirit through the roof, and it was a very fun event in which to watch and participate! Great job Warriors, and truly wonderful you have brought our Elf Dance Rally all the way back!

FUNDS RAISED WILL HELP SPONSOR THE ADDITION OF A NEW COMPUTER LAB AT TROY HIGH SCHOOL

This event supports Troy High School and is sponsored by our foundation called the Troy Support Organization. Come out and support Troy with a wonderful night out at Los Coyotes!

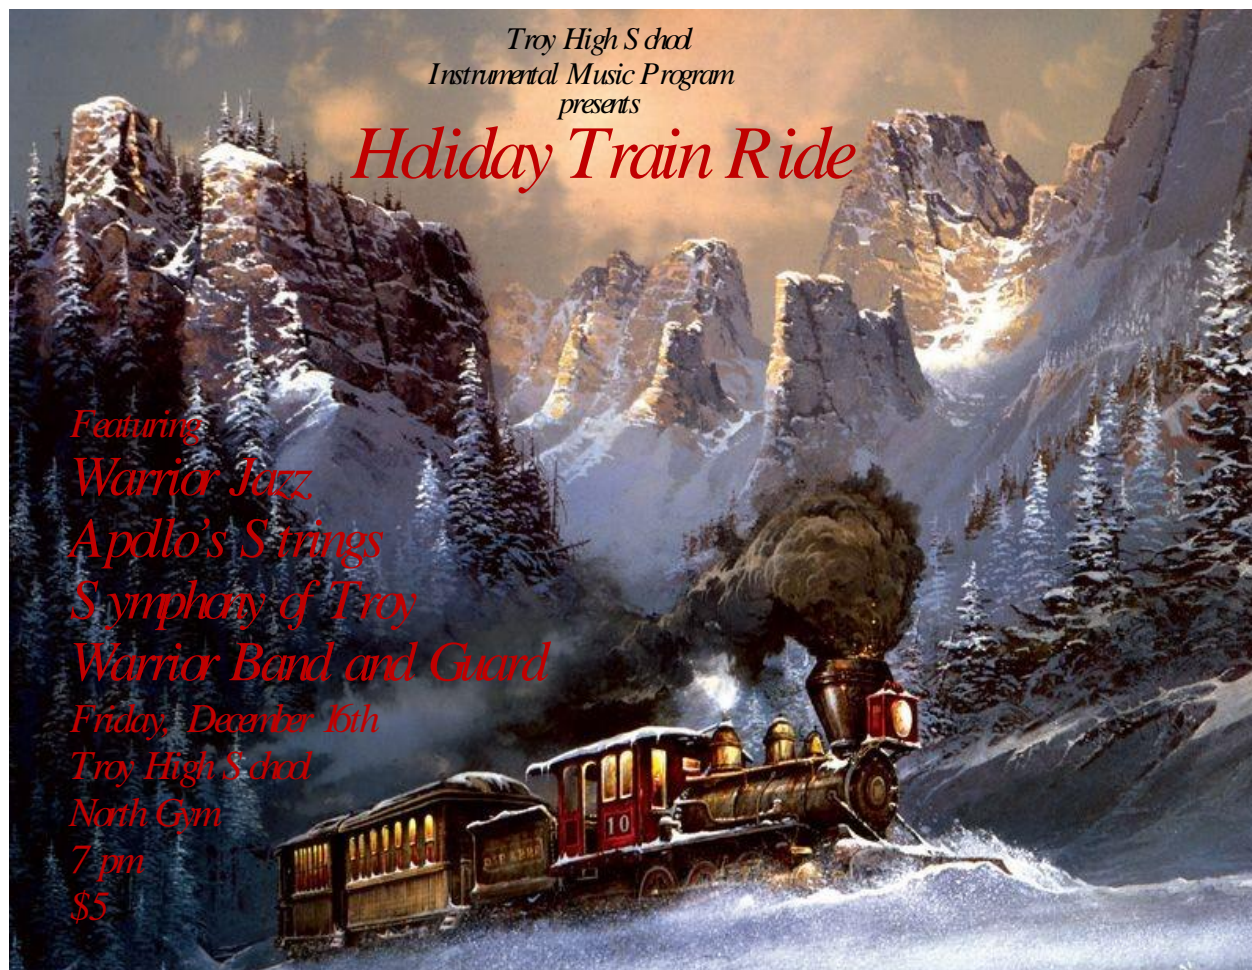

Last week I was invited to attend a holiday reception on the U.S. Naval Base in San Diego by Commander Bill Lauper. I very much appreciate the invitation and always enjoy being able to speak with our retired and active duty servicemen and women in the U.S. Navy. Commander Lauper and I were the only NJROTC and education representatives in attendance, which is usually the case. However, the result is always lots of questions active duty officers, not infrequently from one, two, and three star admirals wanting to know about their NJROTC programs, what draws students to NJROTC, what do they enjoy? They also want to hear all about Troy High School, and I hope they enjoy speaking to me as much as I do with them!

You may ask why is there a photo of a Troy High School class ring from 1985 in the Warrior Weekly? Because this was sent to us this week in an envelope from Humboldt, CA. The envelope had no return address and the contents were simply listed as “found property.” We were able to see the initials inside the ring as ECL and also noticed the football script on the ring. A little more investigation revealed that the name of the student is Eric Christopher Lindquist. Naturally I went to the Troy starting quarterback in 1985 and 1986, Mr. David St. Clair and asked him if he knew anyone with the initials of ECL, which he immediately knew before I told him. While Mr. St. Clair did not know where Mr. Lindquist could be found, he was able to reach out to his brother who had also graduated in 1985 and within hours had found Mr. Lindquist and had made contact with him. He is now a veterinarian in New Jersey, and was very surprised to learn his ring had been found. Dr. Eric Lindquist wrote on his Facebook page, "This is the craziest thing I've ever heard. I lost my Troy High School class ring when I was in college at Humboldt State from 1985 to 1990. An old friend just texted me...years later my ring has found me. LOL." Mr. David St. Clair and current Troy Football Coach Michael Echaves, are sending Dr. Lindquist his ring, along with a few current football things. Thank you to everyone who helped this found property find it's owner. Especially thank you to the person up in Humboldt that took it upon themselves to mail the ring back to Troy High School and made this Holiday miracle possible! Let's go Warriors!

It has been a very busy week for all of us at Troy! This weekend, I look forward to taking some time to slow down a little, but there is Holiday shopping that needs to be addressed... ☺ One week left in the Fall semester! I have many Holiday cards to write, plus its cold outside, so lounging around listening to Christmas music on 103.5 FM is about how my weekend is looking. With the colder outside temperatures, and sometimes inside temperatures, Luna has ways of coping in her favorite holiday blanket on the sofa. I wish everyone a fun and safe holiday weekend as we move into the last week of the Fall Semester and then two weeks of Winter Vacation. Have a wonderful and safe weekend, and I will see everyone back here on Monday morning!
